

SEPA: CROSS-BORDER PAYMENT

SEPA makes direct debit payments easier, faster and safer in Europe. Use SEPA to tap new sales potential in markets where credit cards are either not sufficient as the sole means of payment or where numerous country-specific payment methods exist.

As part of the “Single Euro Payments Area”, the SEPA direct debit procedure provides standardized domestic and cross-border payment within Europe. Payments can be made safely and cost-efficiently through a standardized legal framework and a standardized intra-European regulatory framework for SEPA payments.

SEPA transfers make domestic and cross-border payments as well as cost-efficient refunds in the case of returned goods possible. Consumers can also use the SEPA credit transfer in a standardized and quick fashion when paying for goods ordered on account.

Unlike SEPA credit transfers, a SEPA direct debit transaction is initiated by the merchant and not by the customer. To do so, a merchant requires a SEPA direct debit authorization issued by the customer. With this authorization the customer grants the merchant’s bank the right to debit a one-time or recurring amount from his or her account and to credit said amount to the merchant’s account.
