Wirecard integrates payments for TeamViewer

- Global credit card acceptance and payment processing
- Providing payment solutions in 30 different countries

Aschheim (Munich). Wirecard, the leading payment service provider, and TeamViewer, Germany's largest software company for remote monitoring and online meetings, are cooperating in the field of payments: Wirecard is to provide credit card acceptance in more than 30 different countries for TeamViewer, handling payment processing and international risk management in its role as an acquirer.

TeamViewer has more than 200 million active users. At present, more than 750,000 new IDs are added to this each day. Overall, the software has already been installed on more than one billion devices. Wirecard will now be providing the credit card acceptance (American Express, JCB, Visa, MasterCard and more) in over 30 countries.

Andreas König, CEO of TeamViewer: "Wirecard is the perfect partner for us, we value the international availability of their payment services. We are therefore well placed to serve customers in Asia, for example. This is a key factor in our global expansion project."

Julia Kitzinger, Head of Digital Goods: "We are delighted to support TeamViewer in the technical implementation of internationally recognised payment methods and to be able to offer everything from a single source – from payment acceptance to processing and risk management. We are able to flexibly react to TeamViewer's requirements. From now on, we will devise new, pioneering developments together."
